

Appendix I - National Inventory of Dams Information

Franklin County

Jefferson County

St. Charles County

St. Louis County and City of St. Louis (There are no dams in the City of St. Louis)

The National Inventory of Dams (NID) is maintained and published by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, in cooperation with the Association of State Dam Safety Officials (ASDSO), the states and territories, and federal dam-regulating agencies. Information has been assembled on dams more than 25 feet high, holding more than 50 acre-feet of water or are considered a significant hazard if they fail. The NID contains information about the location of the dam, size, purpose, construction type, last inspection and other technical data.

This database was last updated in 2013.

Hazard Potential Classification

High Hazard Potential - Dams assigned to this classification are those whose failure or mis-operation will probably cause loss of human life.

Significant Hazard Potential - Dams assigned to the Significant Hazard Potential classification are those where failure or mis-operation results in no probable loss of human life but can cause economic loss, environmental change, disruption of lifeline facilities, or impact other concerns.

Low Hazard Potential - Dams assigned to this classification are those where failure or mis-operation results in no probable loss of human life and low economic and/or environmental losses. Losses are principally limited to the owner's property.
